

Part V

Cryptography/Security Component

Dedicated to security features, this part explores cryptographic accelerators like AES and ECC. It also covers digital signatures, random number generation, and encryption/decryption algorithms, showcasing the SoC's capabilities in cryptography and secure data processing.